PROFORMANCE to Lead BAI National Loan Operations Pre-Conference Seminar
-Workshop to teach financial institutions how to begin a document imaging program-

Spring, Tex., Feb. 26, 2007 – PROFORMANCE, a provider of integrated document automation solutions to the financial services industry, will lead a document imaging seminar with a focus on commercial loan operations prior to the 2007 BAI National Loan Operations Conference in Orlando, Fla.

The full day seminar will teach financial institutions from $1 to $20 billion in assets how to implement a document imaging program that integrates exception tracking into the process. It will be held on Monday, March 19, 2007 at the Royal Pacific Hotel in Orlando.

The event, led by PROFORMANCE senior project manager and business analyst, Terry Burks, will include speakers from Scottsdale, Ariz.-based Cornerstone Advisors as well as a panel of bankers. Sessions will cover “best practices” and industry trends in document imaging and exception tracking such as building a successful business case, laying a foundation for implementation, staff training and hardware and software considerations.

“For many financial institutions, the complexity of developing an automated document management process often overshadows the benefits,” said Wayne Whaley, CEO of PROFORMANCE. “By combining document tacking and document imaging into one integrated strategy, most banks over $1 billion in assets will see significant benefits both financially and related to compliance.”

The pre-conference event is part of the BAI National Loan Operations Conference that showcases industry specialists and workshops addressing many of the emerging issues affecting the loan operations arena. This is one of the only conferences to present content designed specifically for loan operations professionals looking for ways to improve proficiency and benefit their organizations.
